Explorer

Jeanne Moose

St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation

Available at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1997/iss2/7

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1997/iss2/7 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Explorer

Cover Page Footnote
Appeared in the issue: Winter 1996.

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1997/iss2/7 Things were so much simpler then.
Which stuffed friend would accompany me on a magical journey?
Cookies, ice cream, or a popsicle?
Back then, I yearned for age and wisdom.

Now, standing on the threshold,
I want to go back,
back to that simpler time.

There is comfort in a well-worn path, not in uncharted wilderness.
With a sigh,
I turn toward foreign land and chart a new course.

-- Jeanne M. Moose

Lazy, Crazy Wind

I suppose spring is here my thoughts have changed w/ the weather no more Sadness
  And Dismay
a new day has come the wind blew it in
  --and I caught it right out of mid air and planted it in the ground and kicked it around and gave it to others
  --my sisters and brothers then tatoo'd it to my skull w/ acid ink so I'd make sure it would sink it has and I love it --look, there's a dove it's flying so low to the ground
  --and those mighty wings their motion is blowing everything around turning up the soil and forming dust clouds the sand settles and creates mirrors which reflect the sunlight back to the clouds which spill rain and cause everything to explode

A biological Jack-in-the-Box w/ God at the wheel.

-- Jeremy Kimball