The World I Created for You

The world I created for you....

You could not live together, so now you live apart
Things will not get better, until you find love deep in your heart

Jealousy, hate and anger is the way the world became
And now because of that, we will never be the same

Take your days of solitude to reflect on what you treasure
And remember our time together, will never last forever

For those who did not make it, you should not shed a tear
For I will keep my promise to love and keep them near

And when this silent killer turns and goes away,
Everyone will remember to love and cherish EVERYDAY!
