

December 2011

Reflections on Love

Amy Burgett
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/verbum>

Part of the Religion Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation

Burgett, Amy (2011) "Reflections on Love," Verbum: Vol. 9 : Iss. 1 , Article 9.
Available at: <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/verbum/vol9/iss1/9>

This document is posted at <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/verbum/vol9/iss1/9> and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.

Reflections on Love

Amy Burgett

Reflections on Love

The feeling you have when you meet someone new is not love.
The butterflies in your stomach whenever you see a specific person is not love.
Kissing and hugging and touching is not love.
Sex is not love.
Love is when you go through hard times together and you still hang on.
Love is being patient and kind even when the other person is not.
Love is forgiving even when they don't deserve it.
Love is laying down your life for someone else.
You cannot find unconditional love in humans. We are very selfish beings.
Love is found in God.
Love is modeled by Christ.
If you want to truly be loved start with God.
Humans will just disappoint you. (After all, they're not perfect.)

St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church – Center Moriches, NY

Photo by M.C