

December 2012

When you're going through college...

Anthony Culotta
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/verbum>

Part of the Religion Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation

Culotta, Anthony (2012) "When you're going through college...," Verbum: Vol. 10 : Iss. 1 , Article 6.
Available at: <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/verbum/vol10/iss1/6>

This document is posted at <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/verbum/vol10/iss1/6> and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.

When you're going through college...

Student Silk

 [When you're going through college...]

When you're going through college and your debts pile up,
You start to have urges akin to those who are greedy; corrupt.
The stress hits you like a tidal wave,
And it's that fisher food you begin to crave.
You're torn between schoolwork, your friends and fun,
And some days you can't even remember what you have done.
In class you are called on and just don't know what to say,
So you pray and ask "why did things have to end up this way?"
You believe that you're stuck that your life is a mess,
Out of place at a meeting, with that pink neon dress.
But when it's all over, and you're out on your own,
You realize that the place you just left has been your home.
You're smarter, happier and can operate a washing machine door,
Your future looks bright and you met a best friend or four.
Perhaps you met someone special and got a taste of what the world has in store,
It's in that moment you realize you got exactly what you wished for.

Anthony Culotta