Of Abraham Nestor

*Out in the meadows
the clowns gather hither holding candles in their hands forming a circle 'round the grave
of Abraham Nestor*

*A speech is given each night's end a lesson to be heard by clown's ears and eyes and by the cross and grave
of Abraham Nestor*

Thunderous skies reveal the clowns kneeling down, as night is dark their clothes are but smiling remain the faces by the grave of Abraham Nestor.

As ceremony ends clowns rise on off the ground and toss their candles down watch them one by one go out on the grave of Abraham Nestor

DIMITRI MARKOULIS

Heroine

*Someday
they'll strike a medal,
mold a cup,
weave a laurel crown,
inscribe a plaque
engrave the feat
upon a stone:
"SHE FOUND THE METTLE
TO SET ASIDE A LOVE THAT COULDN'T BE
AND WAS . . ."*
Then
will all the bronze
and gold
and short lived green and long lived granite dulled upon her trophy shelf stir her heart
the way
one fragile smile
of his
used to?
