1989

Poem From A Sleepless Night

Chris Tanner
St. John Fisher College

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?
Follow this and additional works at: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle
Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation Available at: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1989/iss1/19

This document is posted at http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1989/iss1/19 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Poem From A Sleepless Night

Cover Page Footnote

This poem is available in The Angle: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1989/iss1/19
Poem From A Sleepless Night

Oh these beasts I fear are in my head, yet I'm sure they're there, alive, prowling, teething on my creative energy as it attempts to cross its synapse

then their young
devour the cream of my efforts, leaving only a milky residue to spill over this empty page.

Chris Tanner

The Other Side of the Creek

As a child,
I tried to get things
That I could not reach
A jar of honey,
A kitten under the bushes,
The world on the other side of the creek.

We tried to build bridges,
Carefully position large rocks,
Swing from branches and vines,
Or step in.

Our senior year
We diverted the creek
And now we can cross Without any trouble.

How I long for one damp sock.

Steve Arpaia
Poem From A Sleepless Night

Oh these beasts I fear are in my head, yet I'm sure they're there, alive, prowling, teething on my creative energy as it attempts to cross its synapse

then
their young
devour the cream of my efforts, leaving only a milky residue to spill over this empty page.

Chris Tanner

The Other Side of the Creek

As a child,
I tried to get things
That I could not reach
A jar of honey,
A kitten under the bushes,
The world on the other side of the creek.
We tried to build bridges,
Carefully position large rocks,
Swing from branches and vines,
Or step in.

Our senior year
We diverted the creek
And now we can cross Without any trouble.

How I long for one damp sock.

Steve Arpaia