

The Angle

Volume 1991 | Issue 1

Article 25

1991

Reflections

Sharilynn Battaglia
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation

Battaglia, Sharilynn (1991) "Reflections," The Angle: Vol. 1991 : Iss. 1 , Article 25.
Available at: <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1991/iss1/25>

This document is posted at <https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1991/iss1/25> and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.

Reflections

Cover Page Footnote

Appeared in the issue: 1991.

Reflections

by Sharilynn Battaglia

The last leaf lay dying, a stalwart remnant of summer's heated society,
used and abused by the sun,
and other elements of nature's hostility, is now only a shell of what it was in its youth, waiting for the imminent fate of being trampled underneath the feet of a new generation.

Seashore

by Mary Reynolds

A place where the lost and lonely go,
A place to find their souls,
To be swallowed up for a few precious moments by the infallible strength of the waves and by their enduring beauty The spell is soon broken, however, when the demanding fingers of life pull their tormented bodies back to the burden of living

"But I want that flower..."

Jennifer Kircher