Today Marks

Today marks a new beginning.
No, maybe today marks the end of what was,
which would still be a beginning,
I think.
Yes, that's it,
a beginning of new experiences,
new life,
although the old was life as well, so maybe this isn't so new.
Oh well, who cares, because today marks, marks something, even though today kind of feels like yesterday,
and might even feel like next week.
I'm not sure about that, though,
I'll tell you in about seven days.
Today marks, indeed, marks nothing, which is probably useless, but maybe not,
because I don't think that anything is useless, but nothing isn't anything, although nothing has to be something,
doesn't it?
That's it, I've got it, today does mark!
It marks the beginning of the end, where the new is intertwined with the old,
and anything is something that could actually be nothing.
What a relief,
I'm glad I've made sense of that!
