"Third Prize Winner" Appeared in the issue: Volume 3, Issue 3, 2003.

Use the word love correctly and love your child
Unconditionally
Love yourself
Men you must stand up for your baby
If you don't trust the condition your child is in Fight till you win, fight till the end
Please don't confuse anything that I say
Individual situations fall victim to circumstance everyday
Our precious babies Minnie reflections, we see them everywhere
We must educate them, love them and handle with care
Support single parents
Believe me when I say that it is hard
So hard sometimes I wonder why
Then Confirmation comes every time I stare into my daughter's eye
A SINGLE PARENT'S LOVE

STEPH'S CHOICE

WRITTEN FOR S. P.

There's a spring in your step,
As it should be—
Rose petals tip and
Kelly green leaves dip
Under weight of drifting scent.
It's the fragrance of love
From here to New York City
Or wherever you decide to roam.
In life, what you do makes happiness,
Rarely does it matter,
What others do for you.
Let the heart race
As if it were the first steps
On the moon's rubber surface
Let it bounce and float
Weightless
And free to be inspired.
So as time passes and you look back,
Nothing will be left
Except unexpected joys
And satisfied desires.

*“Let the heart race
As if it were the first steps
On the moon's rubber surface
Let it bounce and float . . .”*
