My Childhood Memories of Life in Palestine
My Childhood Memories of Life in Palestine

Families pick olives from their trees as shepherds graze their sheep
We carry stones to build the family home
We sit on sheep skins placed on top of straw carpet all gathered around a kerosene heater.

Seated on small straw chairs we eat newly-pressed olive oil and Grandma's just-baked bread.

I jump rope and play hopscotch with friends and Bedouin children on the sandy hill.

I walk to school with my sister
We line up and say prayers before entering \[ \text{Bismillāhī r-raḥmānī r-raḥīm} \]
\[ \text{Al ḥamdu lilāhī rabbī l-ʻālamīn} \] Learning to read and write Arabic letters and Arabic numbers we absorb science, religion, and manners we sing Arabic children's songs
My uncle Mansoor the carpenter Our minds nourished we return to picking and eating wheat.

We visit Jerusalem
The Dome of the Rock
a home where my father was born Walking through the marketplace we eat cheese-filled, syrup-drenched kunafa. [1]

We stay with Grandma and Grandpa Grandma bathes us as she sings
We peel garlic for molokhia [2]
Grandpa tells me the story of Little Red Riding Hood
We visit Great-Grandmother in the evening watch relatives pray look and talk about the moon and stars with grandparents.
