Ten Years Ago Today

Kathleen A. Daly
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1980/iss1/7

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1980/iss1/7 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Ten Years Ago Today

Cover Page Footnote
Appeared in the issue: 1980.

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1980/iss1/7
Ten years ago today

My brother Tommy
Carried me on his shoulders
And kissed my skinned knees
I still have childhood scars
But Tommy is buried in the dust.

We had to fight, he told me,
As we dried each other’s tears.
He had to march with a gun.
He hugged me as he promised
He’d be home for my birthday.

Tommy missed my birthday by a month.
I cried for the last time
The day we buried his broken body.

Now they’re telling me to sign my name —
They say there’ll be no war;
But they want my name on their list
Just in case.

Tommy, you thought you were right.
You believed war was just
But Tommy
I cannot kill somebody’s brother.

KATHLEEN A. DALY