In Paris

K. H.
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1986/iss1/21

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1986/iss1/21 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
In Paris

Cover Page Footnote
Appeared in the issue: 1986.

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol1986/iss1/21 a warm in the sun
slap in the face
winter afternoon
blue-washed by altitude I gape my fill of Sacre-Coeur I am sixteen
and seek myself
everywhere
I wander away
to a brown garden path
a hushed a private path an old man approaches
a cat in his arms
a cat at his feet
this must be his path he is all brown except for one milky cloud
a galaxy spins in his eye he begs a franc or two
I tell him
Je n’ai pas de’argent he must have known I lied we stood side by side watched the cats play
he was grampa
he was Charon,
a derelict
anything I could not touch

I come away filled with brown words for a journal and a tightly rolled Montmartre portrait
of me
tapping against my thigh

K. H.

Ants and Worms, part I

heart of tree
beat
in seed
soft
by soil
tilled
by ants
who walked the soil
round the seed
so that the heart
could beat up into body

Rob Cullivan