1999

Lost in a Crowded Room with No Windows or Doors

Shawn Carter
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2000/iss1/12

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2000/iss1/12 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Lost in a Crowded Room with No Windows or Doors

Cover Page Footnote
Appeared in the issue: November 1999.

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2000/iss1/12
Lost in a Crowded Room with No Windows or Doors

Turning and twisting,
yet unable to move.
Endless conversations with no point to prove.
There's more people coming in,
yet there is no door.
Lost and confused,
I reach for the floor.
A quick flash of light,
then dark once again.
No visible window
to let the sun push its way in.
Voice upon voice,
but there are no faces that I can see.
Image upon image,
where could I possibly be?
I think to myself,
there must be a way out,
but all possible answers
are cloaked by darkness and doubt.
This is truly a nightmare, enough is enough.
it's when I have lost all hope,
That I finally wake up.

-- Shawn Carter