The Kiss on the Living Room Floor

Katy M. D'Arduini
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2000/iss1/29 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
The Kiss on the Living Room Floor

Appeared in the issue: November 1999.
The Kiss on the Living Room Floor

Her arms dangle around his warm neck like a golden necklace they clap in the back her long legs circle his waist tying like laces behind his broad back.

He rocks her gently surrounding her with his secure embrace. The urgency of their heart-beats deeply pulse, the muted TV dimming the living room flickering like a strobe light they move in slow motion dripping like honey formed for this body she is molded to fit.

She nuzzles her face into his neck, every intake of breath she feels surge through her from head to toe. And his warm breath and strong fingers painting on her delicate back.

A warm summer night breeze blows through her long, red hair. Her lips roll along his neck swallowing in anticipation. Itching her soft face against his scratchy beard and rushing to the other side so her other cheek could feel lips aching so close - breath of fire captured, devouring the taste of this kiss, opening her green eyes enraptured in his blue they know this insatiable kiss is real.

-- Katy Marie D'Arduini

Published by Fisher Digital Publications, 1999