In Arms

Megan E. Herrman
St. John Fisher College

2001

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?
Follow this and additional works at: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle
Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss2/15

This document is posted at http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss2/15 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
In Arms

Cover Page Footnote

This poem is available in The Angle: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss2/15
Megan Herrman

In Arms

I made you listen to Willie Nelson
as you drove along smiling with your hand on my knee.
I wore a Lily of France Pink Flaming Dress, with a tiny blue barrette and red stained lips.

We pretended to be guests at Opryland,
and drank frozen margaritas at the hotel bar–
surrounded by genuine cowboys and cowgirls– complete with boots, hats, and fringe.

We ate dinner in Nashville
at a restaurant where the menu consisted entirely of fondue.
Cheese fondue, Chocolate fondue,
How fond I was of you.

That night we lay in the field
with our backs against the damp grass,
we watched shooting stars,
and fell asleep wrapped in arms.