Seeing You

Jennifer Enright
St. John Fisher College

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?
Follow this and additional works at: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss4/13

This document is posted at http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss4/13 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Seeing You

Cover Page Footnote

This poem is available in The Angle: http://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss4/13
JEN ENRIGHT

SEEING YOU

I can see you shadow me through my days and nights when you take that day-long trip that brings the world apart back together again, just by boarding that airplane that will fly over the Atlantic.

I can then see your beautiful eyes and feel your mouth on my body and grip your soft hand in mine and squeeze all the love in my heart back in to you.
I’m stuck to you like grass stain or yellow on daisies.
We walk that stony path wrapped up together to brighten our way.

And we draw the strength to balance our hearts and not to fall when we take the voyage back to where our hearts beat separately, where we don’t breathe in unison and we hold on tight until we can tread

the distance once again.