Perfumed Anxiety

Mindae Kadous
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss4/23

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss4/23 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Perfumed Anxiety

Cover Page Footnote

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2002/iss4/23
MINDAE KADOUS

PERFUMED ANXIETY

It was the summer when twenty-two didn't seem too old for me and more than four partners was suddenly overlookable, like everything else wrong with you.

So when you picked me up and I had to open my own car door and then we snuck into the movies so you wouldn't have to pay,
I still thought it was our first date.

And when we went out dancing together and I watched you two-step with your ex-girlfriend for "old times sake,"
I still believed it was our second date.

So when you bought my ticket and drinks at the concert because you couldn't keep your hands off my little black dress,
I still wanted it to be our third date.

It was the summer when all it took was a Coco Channel creation to know, you were three dates of spilled perfume.