The Angle

Volume 2009 | Issue 1

2008

The Moon And Me

Dillon Lynn
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2009/iss1/4 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
The Moon And Me

Cover Page Footnote

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2009/iss1/4
I see you
The moon, screaming out of the vast, bleak autumn sky
It's light darting through shadows of the night
Into the seldom eyes electrified by its might

Clouds crouching, waiting, cautioned to impede on the elite
Moonlight; holding a firm grasp on the space for which
It lays and plays like the children who gaze and dance
At the glance of this sullen paradise

I am. It is. We are.
An infinite device of life
And of light.