Head Held High

Fatima Smalls
St. John Fisher College

Follow this and additional works at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

How has open access to Fisher Digital Publications benefited you?

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2011/iss1/7

This document is posted at https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2011/iss1/7 and is brought to you for free and open access by Fisher Digital Publications at St. John Fisher College. For more information, please contact fisherpub@sjfc.edu.
Head Held High

Cover Page Footnote
Appeared in the issue: Volume 13, Issue 1, 2011.

This poem is available in The Angle: https://fisherpub.sjfc.edu/angle/vol2011/iss1/7
She sits alone, soul full of pain
Heart full of ache, she smiles vividly yet cries secretly
Only she has the answers to her problem and the will power to endure struggles
Her passion drives deep and her support rises above the horizons
Her flesh is sinful and her spirit is wise and blessed, yet she lives in a world engulfed in hatred and lies
She lives loving herself, body and mind... speaking of great wealth
From her sultry beaded feline eyes to her small yet plump tinted lips, those lips that can roar like a lion then purr like a cat
That body which was made by man & woman, but grew on its own
Well this woman has secrets and her eyes have tears
Her faith has been tested and her will power tried.
But this woman has self love and pride
A heart filled with doing and a body strong enough to hold up against the worlds of opposition.
She is ME and I am HER.
One in all WE stand here and WE STAND TALL!